

Customer Loyalty

Devising successful strategies in food and drink

By James Essinger MA (Oxon), MIPR, Helen Wylie BSc
MA, Da Vinci PR

 Table of Contents

James Essinger MA (Oxon), MIPR

Helen Wylie BSc MA

James Essinger and Helen Wylie are experienced business writers who work in business research and public relations. They are co-founders of the business-to-business and consumer public relations consultancy Da Vinci Public Relations. To find out more information about the company please go to www.davincipr.com.

Copyright © 2003 Business Insights Ltd

This Management Report is published by Business Insights Ltd. All rights reserved. Reproduction or redistribution of this Management Report in any form for any purpose is expressly prohibited without the prior consent of Business Insights Ltd.

The views expressed in this Management Report are those of the publisher, not of Business Insights. Business Insights Ltd accepts no liability for the accuracy or completeness of the information, advice or comment contained in this Management Report nor for any actions taken in reliance thereon.

While information, advice or comment is believed to be correct at the time of publication, no responsibility can be accepted by Business Insights Ltd for its completeness or accuracy.

Table of Contents

Customer Loyalty: Devising successful strategies in food and drink

Executive Summary	8
--------------------------	----------

Chapter 1	Historical Approaches to Winning Customer Loyalty in the Food and Drink Industries	12
------------------	---	-----------

Introduction	12
The Classical World	12
The notion of the favoured producer	14
The background to the notion of the food and drink brand	16
A nineteenth-century branded food advertisement	18
The origins of popular food brands in Britain and the United States	20
CASE STUDY: The evolution of the food and drink retailer J Sainsbury plc	25
The growth in importance of food and drink brands during the twentieth century	29
CASE STUDY: Coca-Cola - the drink and the branding	30
CASE STUDY: Kellogg's Corn Flakes	31
CASE STUDY: Skippy Peanut Butter	32
CASE STUDY: Marmite	34
Conclusion	35

Chapter 2	The Changing Patterns of Customer Behaviour, Expectation and Passion	39
------------------	---	-----------

Introduction	39
Disparities between customers in different countries	39

The importance of practical observation	40
The two major types of food and drink retailing environment	42
The beginnings of the concept of the supermarket	43
The synergy between advertising, branding and the retail environment	44
Key factors in competition between retailers	45
The notion of the supermarket as theatre	45
A visit to a modern supermarket	47
The variety of sourcing of food products at modern supermarkets	51
Factors motivating customers when they buy specific items of food and drink	52
Customer behaviour when buying food and drink from retailers	55
The usefulness of consultants in generating key insights	63
Is customer loyalty more of a concern to retailers or manufacturers?	66
What about retailers? How do they seek to win loyalty?	66
Brand equity	67
The primary importance of being first to market	71
The average length of an NPD cycle	72
Loyalty cards	74
The Nectar card	75
CASE STUDY: An Internet shopping enterprise	80
CASE STUDY: Marks & Spencer	85
CASE STUDY: Piggly Wiggly	93
Conclusion	95

Chapter 3 The Crucial Role of New Product Development 97

Introduction	97
NPD and its role in winning customer loyalty	98
The appeal of new food and drink products	101
Types of innovation in the food and drink sectors	102
Paradigm shift innovation	102
Branded innovation	104
Significant perceived incremental difference	106
Types of incremental advantage	108
Cost	109
Taste	110
Quality	112
CASE STUDY: leapingsalmon – a shift in consumer eating habits?	113
Novelty	116
Technological advances	117
Presentation	118
Advertising	118

Health benefits	119
The different skills involved in developing a new food and drink product	119
The different stages of the product development process	120
Stage 1: Scoping	121
Stage 2: Building the business case	121
Stage 3: Development	121
Stage 4: Testing and evaluation	121
Stage 5: The launch	121
CASE STUDY: Internet-based NPD collaboration using ‘ProductVine’	122
The increasing importance of the private label concept	127
A perspective on NPD in relation to fundamental differences between the food and drink industry	128
CASE STUDY: United Biscuits	132

Chapter 4 State-of-the-Art Approaches to Branding 137

Introduction	137
CASE STUDY - Interbrand	138
CASE STUDY: Diageo’s approach to branding	143
Global Priority Brands (GPBs)	144
Local Priority Brands (LPBs)	144
Category Management Brands	144
Global Brand Executives (GBEs)	144
CASE STUDY - Interbrand’s initiative to rebrand the Yorkie bar	144

Chapter 5 Conclusion - Winning Strategies 149

Introduction	149
Index	154

List of Figures

Figure 2.1:	What is the average length of the NPD cycle?	72
Figure 3.2:	The importance of new product development to your customers	99
Figure 3.3:	The importance of new product development – innovation drives growth	100
Figure 3.4:	The importance of new product development – innovation drives growth	101